What Do You Take on a Pilgrimage?

The Canterbury Tales—General Prologue

by Geoffrey Chaucer (1343-1400)

Translated by Evan Mantyk

When April's sweetest showers downward shoot,
 The drought of March is pierced right to the root
 Through every vein with liquid of such power
 And virtue that it generates the flower;
 When Zephyrus too exhales his breath so sweet
 Inspiring in ground beneath the feet
 The tender crops, and there's a youthful sun,
 His second half course through the Ram now run,
 And little birds start making melodies
 Who sleep all night eyes open in the trees
 (For Nature pricks them in each little heart),
 On pilgrimage then folks desire to start.
 The palmers seek to make their travel plans
 For far-off shrines renowned in sundry lands.

As I prepare for my own pilgrimage, I find myself thinking of these words from the General Prologue of Geoffrey Chaucer's The Canterbury Tales. The Canterbury Tales tells the stories of a motley crew of pilgrims traveling to Canterbury Cathedral to view and venerate the relics of St. Thomas à Beckett. They leave in April when as Chaucer writes "The palmers seek to make their travel plans for far-off shrines renowned in sundry lands." Maybe these words resonate because I too am starting my pilgrimage to "far-off shrines" in April. What is it about the Spring that makes us want to go on adventures, to go on pilgrimages to seek God and possibly find him? Maybe, it is because spring is the time of renewal. The time when life comes again after the winter. Maybe, deep down in our primal souls we too feel the need for resurrection, the need to feel alive after the dark of winter, the need to have our own faith brought to life again.

This weekend I have spent much time pondering the question of what to bring on my April pilgrimage. Of course, I will bring clothes. I will bring my medicine, my toiletries, my passport, and my extra pair of glasses (since I am blind as a bat without them). I will bring a book (or two) to read, a tablet to watch movies on while I fly, and my cell phone for pictures. But what else should I bring?

Should I bring my expectations of holy moments and meeting God? What if my expectations of this pilgrimage are not met?

Should I bring my fears and anxieties, or should I hide them somewhere deep in the luggage?

Should I bring my longings for a deeper relationship with God, for communion with him, for a real sense of his presence?

In all my pondering, the only thing I think I have figured out is that the best thing I can bring on my pilgrimage is myself, ALL of myself with all my goofiness, my fear, my hopes, my anxieties, my joy, my wonder, and my openness to whatever God has in store.

That is the best that any of us can bring to our spring pilgrimages. Whether we are going to Scotland or up the street, whether our pilgrimage is a physical one, or one of the heart, the only thing, the best thing, we can bring is ourselves, open and willing to hear what God has to say, to see what he would have us to see, and to enjoy his presence all along the way.

Travelling mercies for all of us pilgrims,

*Peace and Love in Christ

A Big Shout Out!

For those of us who have ever watched the Facebook Live-Streaming, we feel so grateful for the opportunity to share the worship service when we cannot attend in person. But before that can happen, hours of preparation are done.

Kim Ciriello has been doing this for several years, and during the pandemic, it was a life-saver for many. Then, when the service was broadcast from the sanctuary, she also provided the flowers each week.

Recently, Nancy Webber, one of our newest members, has been helping Kim by preparing the slides for live-streaming. Kim is so grateful for this help and Nancy's fresh approach.

Let's give a big shout-out to both Kim and Nancy for all the time, energy, and dedication they give. Next time you see them, thank them and tell them how much they're appreciated.

On Memorial Day,
REMEMBER OUR HEROES!

'Glory to God' Hymnals are Dedicated

On Sunday, April 16th, our brand new 'Glory to God' hymnals were dedicated during the Worship Service, which was an old-fashioned Hymn Sing. After the dedication, members of the congregation suggested various hymns be sung, and thanks to James Geiger, Rachel Ficklin, playing the piano and organ respectively, and David Arvold's directing us, many of our favorite hymns were sung. It was so enjoyable, it was decided we would have another Hymn Sing this summer, with a lunch after Worship outside by the Pavillion.

Special thanks to Becky Clark for coordinating the purchase, the dedications, and affixing the 200 dedications in the hymnals, to Nancy Webber for designing and printing the labels, and to many others who helped remove the old hymnals from the pews and get the new ones ready for use.

Thank you to the congregation for bringing one or two hymnals into the sanctuary, which helped distribute the 200 books into the pews.

Buildings & Grounds

Hugh Walters

We have found a lawn service that we can afford. He is charging us $200 per month only the months that we cut the grass.

Eleven people helped on Clean Up Day, and most of the items on my list were completed.

The utilities were:

- Electric ..... $788
- Propane..... $1,017
- Water, Sewer, and trash pick up .... $183

We are looking for a better price for our Propane.

We have not had our HVAC systems evaluated, but plan to do so soon.

Please continue to do your best to help control our electric usage.

Repairs were made on the roof to correct the leak over the choir loft, and the ceiling in the sanctuary has been repaired as well. We know the sopranos are happy the leak is fixed.

Our Journey to Easter

PALM SUNDAY

Palm crosses were made by the Presbyterian Women and each attendee was given one to remember the day.

Pastor Burnetta and the choir processed, each waving palms.

WEDNESDAY of HOLY WEEK

Dave Arvold directed the musicians prior to the full Cantata rehearsal.

Clair Arvold helped organize the Symbolic items that were to be placed on the Communion Table during the Cantata.

MAUNDY THURSDAY

What an awe-inspiring performance the choir and musicians gave of Pepper Choplin's COME to the CROSS and REMEMBER.

Our Journey to Easter continued

Items symbolizing the last days of Jesus' life were laid on the Communion Table . . .

palms being waved,
as Jesus enters
Jerusalem,

"bring the cup
and the bread,
to remember,"

bringing flowers to Gethsemane (in this case
Dogwoods, the symbol of the Crucifixion),

bring the 30 silver coins,
and remember how Judas
betrayed Jesus for this price,

the cross Jesus carried,
the crown of thorns,

"O sacred hands, now
wounded and nailed
upon a tree,"

the robe and how they called Jesus,
"King of the Jews,"

"Hold the shroud in your hands, and . . .
Remember."

Youth ... Our Future

An FPC group of about 25 attended the wonderful musical, presented by WCHS, and was amazed at the talent of the young people.

Josalynne Wiley and Sebastian Wiley are extremely talented young people, and we thank them, and the Wiley family, for the wonderful production of Singin' in the Rain at WCHS.

From stage to film: Fourth grader films TV pilot

By Savannah Sinclair
White County News

While most elementary school students are dreaming of what they want to be when they grow up, Josalynne Wiley is acting on those dreams.

She's performed on the White County High School stage three times, been on an ABC Sunday Frosty Christmas commercial, and even appeared as a background character in an episode of "Wild 'n Out."

"I love being on stage, but I love being on so different places I've never been before," Josalynne said.

Last week, her dream took her to Los Angeles, where she filmed a pilot for a television show. It will take about six months on the editing process before they even find out if the pilot is picked up by a network, and if there's a possibility for more appearances.

It wasn't a 100% success — meaning she had lines and her face was on the screen at times — she will get an agent on IMDb.

"That's where a lot of casting agencies will look to find talent, so we're pretty excited about that," her mom, Annette, said.

Josalynne is used to waiting — it's usually a long time between the time she auditioned for a role and knows whether or not she got it.

She and her family have a saying: "Fins in and fins out."

Her favorite project she auditioned for was "Spider and His Amazing Friends."

There have been tough — some roles are very specific in how the actor should look. She was two inches too tall to play one character.

"It's very stressful," Josalynne said. One thing that hasn't been stressful is keeping up with her schoolwork. She said it's getting to be easier to balance school with work.

Plus, her teacher and principal at Treasure Gap Elementary have been very supportive, using notes learned during the pandemic.

Josalynne got her start about five years ago on stage as "The Boy Next Door."

Her father, Adam, has been active in the high school's theater program, and her brother, Sebastian, is also an actor both professionally and at the high school.

See WCHS Page 74

Josalynne Wiley was recently in Los Angeles, filming a TV pilot. Congratulations, Josalynne! We are so proud of you.

Easter Cards for Friendship Nursing Home

Our Amazing Kids, Charley Geiger and Collin Armour, created Easter cards for the residents, all 40 of them, at Friendship Nursing Home last month. The cards were delivered on April 8th. We are so proud that these Amazing Kids continue to show their love for the residents by giving of their time and talents. Way To Go, Guys!!

We've enjoyed April with an Easter celebration of Jesus' resurrection. We've also enjoyed the spring weather and adventures outdoors. Some of our favorites are picking little wildflowers, enjoying the sunshine, and outdoor snack time.

May will be the final month of our school year. We will finish up our alphabet in the next few weeks. Additionally, we'll be working on special Mother's Day gifts. We plan to have a year-end celebration and are still in the planning process for that.

Many of the children will go to kindergarten next year, while some will stay for another year. The preschool has several open student spaces for next school year. We are not planning to have any summer camps this summer. Our last school day will be Thursday, May 25.

Have a great May!

Ms. Chloe And Ms. Adele

Several of the Presbyterian Women crocheted little Easter eggs, with baskets for the eggs, and donated them to The Growing Place so each child, AND their siblings, could have one. From the looks of it, the eggs were a big hit. Thank you to the talented and generous PW Knit'n'Stitchers.

Movie Day In May

On Saturday, May 20th, we will show the movie, The Secrets of Jonathan Sperry.

This is the story of three 12-year-olds during a summer, when one of the young men, Dustin, mows the lawn of a seventy-five year-old Sperry. That summer changed the lives of Dustin and his friends. This is an inspiring film for all ages. Popcorn and drinks provided.
